CLEAR-COM AND MARLBOROUGH COMMUNICATIONS COLLABORATE TO PROVIDE BEST OF BREED COMMS EQUIPMENT FOR MILITARY, AEROSPACE AND GOVERNMENT APPLICATIONS

MAG industries will benefit from the companies' complementary comms experience and support services

CAMBRIDGE, UK— 27 FEBRUARY 2014 —Clear-Com® and Marlborough Communications Limited (MCL) announced today that they have forged a distribution agreement, enabling the specialist systems provider to offer the entire range of Clear-Com communications systems to the government, military and aerospace sectors in the UK and Europe.

Today's military, aerospace and government personnel expect more advanced functionality from communication systems as they engage in an extensive range of operations. Clear-Com's unmatched intercom solutions, including partyline, digital matrix, wireless intercoms, and intercom-over-IP conferencing software, are used in test and evaluation, command and control, UAV and training and simulation applications across the globe. MCL offers best-of-breed equipment and support for military and commercial communications and telecommunications for use on land, sea, air and mobile applications.

Claire King, Head of Business Development at MCL, said, “Clear-Com’s range of communication systems amply fulfil our customers’ requirements for innovative and scalable communications solutions and we are looking forward to building a successful partnership with all involved.

Dan Muchmore, Regional Sales Manager at Clear-Com, said, “We are pleased to partner with MCL, a company that is rigorous in its approach to sourcing the best equipment that can perform reliably in various environments. Their extensive experience in the military and aerospace sector will enable Clear-Com to further extend our reach into this specialist market.”
