HME Wireless restaurant paging system ensures top-notch dining and event service to members, guests of River Wilderness Golf and Country Club

ATLANTA, GA — December 3, 2013 — The River Wilderness Golf and Country Club of Sarasota, FL, is using a restaurant paging system from HME Wireless to deliver excellent service at lunch, dinner, and its weekly themed events. The serving paging system calls wait staff to the kitchen as soon as orders are ready, and guarantees that customers receive their food hot every time.

“These pagers have worked beautifully from day one,” said Helen Dailey of River Wilderness Golf and Country Club. “We need products that last and deliver for our members, and the investment has been well worth it.”

As a private, member-owned club with a beautiful golf course and stunning 27,000 square foot clubhouse, River Wilderness prides itself on delivering the absolute best in service — whether it be for a small lunch or a special event for hundreds. Dailey says that the restaurant paging system has been critical to the success of the whole operation. Servers can continue taking care of guests, knowing that the second an order is ready they will be contacted instantly by the kitchen via restaurant pager.

“The fact that we could step in and have an immediate impact on their business is a great compliment to our technology and the commitment of our team to providing exceptional service,” said Russ Ford, Vice President of HME Wireless.
